and beautiful virtual reality experiences. Q: Question Cloning Stackoverflow style This is a good example of what I'm talking about. I know I can tweak the html to make it look like Stackoverflow, but they've done it very nicely. How do they do it? Is it a plugin or something? A: There are couple of reasons we use such a layout. 1) We use a lot of elements which don't really need a fixed width and the code will be a lot cleaner if we can wrap the blocks 2) Its fairly easy to place elements in StackOverflow's favorite colors The HTML layout is generated dynamically so we are not using any JS library to do it. Having said that I should mention there are plugins which support css (pulp-grid-css). I don't think our pre-packaged grid layout are a good fit though. The patterns (colors, states) might get a bit too much and we want 570a42141b
